  3. Titlakawan — The Flowering of the Self The teachings of the Aztec Dance are tied to the Pre-Hispanic roots of ancient Mexico. Its purpose serves to connect the dancer to a universal view of the Anawak culture and the Nawatl philosophy; A worldview of nature. The Aztec dance depends on its understanding of nature and it draws its sustenance from it. Hence the dance does not depend on the Western pedagogical approach but it depends on the physical activity, artistic-cultural which is heavy in symbolism in each dance and its specific steps. Aztec dance awakens and develops various human faculties which are essential across society, which the current educational system fails to implement in a conscious and permanent manner. The group meets on Tuesdays from 7pm to 9pm. All are welcome to attend.

4. IDES of March postcard campaign – The Social Justice Action Team is taking part in the IDES of March, a mass postcard campaign to affirm our values to the Trump administration. At the SJAT table in Fellowship Hall following the services, postcards that affirm UU values will be available for the congregation to sign. Postcards will be available this Sunday, March 5 and March 12. They will be mailed on March 15.
